We extend a hearty מזל טוב to:

Olivia Sanders on becoming a Bat Mitzvah on October 9. We wish Mazal Tov also to her parents Kevin Sanders & Nina Hay, and brothers Ryan and Noah. Proud grandparents are Samira & Eli Hay and Maxine & Stephen Sanders. We thank the Sanders and Hay family for sponsoring the Shabbat Bulletin and the Kiddush-on-the-Go in Olivia's honour.

Esther Wolgelerenter on becoming a Bat Mitzvah on October 11. We wish Mazal Tov also to her parents David Wolgelerenter & Sara Brown and brother Joshua. Proud grandparents are Mucie & Cary Wolgelerenter and Barbara & Gordon Brown. We thank the Wolgelerenter-Brown family for sponsoring the Shabbat Bulletin and the Flowers on the Bimah in Esther's honour.

Thank You, תודה רבה to:

Gitta & Harold Frazer for sponsoring the Shabbat Bulletin in honour of their 55th Wedding Anniversary. We wish them Mazal Tov.

Gail Kozierok and family for sponsoring the Shabbat Bulletin in honour of Leon Kozierok's 80th birthday. We wish them Mazal Tov.

THIS WEEK & ONGOING

ADULT STUDY

Join Hana Werner for a Zoom session on Sunday, October 10 at 10:30 a.m. Was it Abraham who formulated a revolutionary way of thinking? Or, had Terach, his father, already made the first tentative move towards monotheism as he wrestled with idolatry? It was Abraham who heard the summons: "Leave your land, your birthplace and your father's house and go to the land I will show you." If you have not already signed up, contact alan@biz120.com

Parashat Noach

In the first parashah of Genesis, the world deteriorated over the course of 10 generations, from the pristine perfection of its beginning to corruption in the days of Noah. God chooses not to destroy the world totally (a midrash suggests God did destroy previous disappointing worlds). Instead, God continues with the same creatures, human beings, blessed with free will and cursed with the tendency to misuse that free will, who have brought matters to this point. Noah's capacity for righteousness gives God cause for hope.
